INTRODUCTION

When Dagger sadly passed away in 2023, his mum, Yvonne Dagger and the Animal Heroes Hall Of Fame teamed up to decide how best to continue his legacy. Dagger's artwork, sold to raise thousands of dollars for charity, was at the heart of their decision. To celebrate Dagger's life and work each October 6th (his birthday), the idea was to recognise and celebrate other animals with

DAGGER DOGVINCI

Dagger was no ordinary dog. In fact, he was quite extraordinary, not only for his artistic talent and the beauty he created, but also for his generosity of spirit. Through his remarkable paintings, he raised hundreds of thousands of dollars for animal & people related charities, inspiring many with his boundless energy, creativity, and dedication. He indeed was 'The Do-Good Dog'.

From the moment he picked up a paint brush his destiny was sealed. The media loved him as did the many authors who included him in their works. Dagger's workshops in libraries, schools and nursing homes inspired and educated his students as they learnt his message of 'Education and Community Service' was central to all that he did.

Dagger's impact however, went far beyond the art world. As a puppy he was being trained by Canine Companions to become a service dog for one person but the universe had other plans; why help one person when he had the ability to help many. So Dagger became a certified therapy dog, bringing joy and comfort to those who needed him most. Whether cuddling up, sitting quietly while being petted or simply wagging his tail spreading his infectious joy, Dagger had a remarkable ability to connect with people and brighten their day. His work with Therapy Dogs International was a testament to his gentle nature, his selflessness, and his desire to make a difference in the world.

DAGGER DOGVINCI

In 2021, we had the pleasure of inducting Dagger into the Animal Heroes Hall Of Fame, a well-deserved honour for a remarkable animal.

Sadly on January 17th, 2023 Dagger unexpectedly passed away throwing his family and community into mourning. Dagger's example will always remind us of the importance of compassion, perseverance, and generosity.

CHARLOTTE

Hello! I'm Charlotte! I'm a potbelly pig who paints! Visually impaired in my left eye due to a wasp sting when I was little, it doesn't hold me back from creating beautiful, one of a kind, unique works of art. I've discovered through this fun piggy enrichment activity, that I'm a natural PigCasso! My work has won numerous awards and recognitions at county fairs, has garnered the attention of the news networks, & I've even been in the newspaper! Locally, on the front page of "The Union Democrat," & even in a children's newspaper in the UK, "First News UK!" My artwork has traveled across the US, to Canada, & to several countries in Europe, where select pieces have found new & happy homes. I am most proud of the charity work I have done through my paintings, raising money for The Maui Humane Society & The Maui Pig Sanctuary after the devastating fire in Lahaina, & most recently, for the Tripawds Foundation, where I am a guest artist in this year's Tripawds Dog Art Auction!

I started my art journey to do something different, to inspire, to make people smile, & to share joy to the world through art.

DALI

Dali was a seven month old rescue, endlessly playful and full of mischief. She would curiously watch us paint and often steal our brushes, which we initially thought was just another one of her naughty acts. One of our friends said, "Maybe she wants to paint too, give her a brush!" So, we did. To our surprise, she took it and, on her very first try, touched the canvas with the brush. That's when we realised she needed something designed especially for her. We created dog-friendly brushes at home in different sizes, and the only thing we taught her was to hold the brush and touch a surface, nothing more. The rest came naturally to her. Soon, she began moving the brush across the sheets in long, confident strokes.

We did not post the 1st painting at first, but her second painting was posted online and we were flooded with love and millions of views from people around the world. Many said her art gave them hope. That's when we realised that Dali wasn't just painting she was spreading positivity and hope through her brushstrokes.

Dali sells her work to raise funds for charities in her homeland of India

He has been painting ever since, and has sold art on Etsy, collaborated with artist Daniel Newman and had art exhibited at the Jule Collins Smith Museum of Fine Art at Auburn University. Enzo has sold art to people in 24 countries around the world.

KAISERIN

Kaiserin was a long coat German Shepherd who lived a "normal" dog life until I found a lump on her foot in the summer of 2018. This was the start of a cancer battle that led to the amputation of her rear right leg in 2018.

She did amazing as a tripawd and I wanted to show the world how well 3-legged dogs can do so we began doing trick titles. She achieved a championship trick dog title, performing all tricks on 3 legs. One of the tricks we learnt was how to paint. She seemed to really love it and soon friends and family got dog paintings as gifts.

People started to tell me I should sell her art so I decided to sell paintings to raise money for the Tripawds Foundation so we could help other dogs like her. Her art sold well and we raised lots of money. Unfortunately the cancer returned two and a half years later and she passed in October 2020.

Our whole family was devastated by her loss, especially my younger dog Schultz. I taught him how to paint as we grieved together and started selling his art. I also organize a big dog art auction each year in her memory and started the Tripawds Kaiserin Cancer Care Package Program that sends care packages to dogs battling cancer.

Kaiserin is inducted in the Animal HEROES Hall Of Fame.

MARGAUX

Margaux was a Weimaraner from Alabaster, Alabama. Her story is a testament to the extraordinary potential of rescued dogs. Orphaned just a few days after birth, Margaux was bottle-fed and raised by her loving adopted family. They enjoyed many activities together over the years, including earning titles in Flyball, Scent/Nosework, AKC Achiever Dog, and Trick Dog Excellent. Margaux was a NACSW Harry Award winner and a two-time US K9 Biathlon finisher. She has graced the stage of the historic Alabama Theater twice, performing in the Birmingham Ballet's Muttcracker.

Margaux was also a dedicated member of Sniff 4 Life's Cancer Detection Dog team, using her sense of smell to detect cancer in canine saliva and blood samples. Margaux and her teammates' goals are to extend survival times and improve quality of life for canine cancer patients through early detection.

Margaux

When she wasn't sniffing, Margaux particularly loved to paint, often selecting her own paint colors and brushes for her projects. She was honored to collaborate on art pieces with other artists, human and canine, from all over the world. Margaux was truly a Renaissance-dog!

Margaux sadly passed away on September 22nd as we were preparing this exhibition.

NELLIE

As the current Tripawds Community Spokesdog, Nellie was a 3.5-legged senior artist who paints with extra exuberance when chicken and hot dogs were the reward for a job well-done.

Relatively new to the dog art scene, she enjoyed exploring all facets of acrylic painting, from metallics to glitter paints, and didn't mind an occasional paint splatter on her soft and lovely fur!

Nellie was rescued from the San Jose, California animal shelter in 2022 and lived her best life as guardian for Rene and Jim, founders of the Tripawds animal amputee support community for pets and their people. She was the sweetest German Shepherd you will ever meet.

Sadly Nellie unexpectedly passed away as we were setting up this year's exhibition.

PENNY

Many are surprised to learn that Penelope is a young artist at only 2 years old, which is much like a 'tween' puppy! She started painting in April 2026 during her second training session! When she's not painting, Penny loves WWE slamming her feed buckets, biting non food items, and zooming in her paddock next to her donkey neighbour. Penny paints the same way she lives - with speed, enthusiasm, and a lot of teeth.

Penelope lives at a farm that runs disability support programs, but due to her young and vivacious nature, Penny is one of the few animal residents that supports our friends from a distance, leaving the closer proximity work to the calmer horses. Penny also enjoys dressing up and going for pony walks to the park, where she practices trick training.

PIGCASSO

Pigcasso was rescued just before slaughter in 2016 by Joanne Lefson. When Joanne noticed that Pigcasso ate or destroyed everything except some old paint brushes that were laying in her stall, she decided to nurture the pig's potential talent. It didn't take long before Pigcasso began to paint – and over time, the painting process developed into an extraordinary collaboration between human and pig. Every original is signed by Pigcasso's nose-tip, countersigned by Lefson and includes a Certificate of Authenticity.
Proceeds from the sale of every artwork benefit the registered nonprofit Farm Sanctuary SA that Lefson established in 2016.
Their artworks are also collected by an impressive global audience which include the Hollywood elite and leading environmentalists alike.
Pigcasso has also collaborated with leading brands which include SWATCH and has hosted a number of prominent exhibitions in Europe and China.

Pigcasso

Piln 2022, she entered the Guinness World Records for her artwork 'WILD AND FREE' which sold for a record-breaking $25 000. Through their extraordinary collaboration, the creatives aim to challenge the status quo; igniting debate on the definition of art, while highlighting the detrimental effects of animal agriculture on the welfare of farmed animals and the environment in order to inspire a kinder, more sustainable world.

Pigcasso is inducted in the Animal HEROES Hall Of Fame.

RALPHIE

Just Plain Ralphie is an Old English Sheepdog who has spent nearly ten years showing people what deaf dogs can do when simply given an opportunity to prove themselves.

Ralphie was the first deaf dog to earn both the Grand Champion and Masters Champion Trick Dog titles with DMWYD, and he is still the only Old English Sheepdog to have earned both titles.

Painting was something he first learned when he was a puppy, and he loves it. He paints with brushes and stamps, usually on canvas, although he has also painted just for fun on simple butcher paper taped to the wall. Some of the more unusual things he's painted include an electric guitar, a birdhouse, and his own skateboard. Ralphie seems to have a knack for painting works filled with pareidolia. Animals, faces, people, monsters, and even little scenes seem to emerge from his abstract paintings.

Ralphie

Ralphie's collaborative works have been exhibited at the Jule Collins Smith Museum of Fine Art at Auburn University. His artwork has also been donated to help nonprofit organizations and purchased for private collections.

Ralphie has spent most of his life as an ambassador for deaf dogs. He has shown people that being deaf doesn't determine what a dog can learn or what that dog might be capable of doing. He also demonstrates that people and deaf dogs can learn to communicate with each other. For the right people, it's an amazing journey.

SCHULTZ

Schultz is a 6 year old long coat German Shepherd. He learnt to paint after his painting "sister" Kaiserin died of cancer. Kaiserin was a canine amputee who had been painting and selling her work to raise money for the Tripawds Foundation. He was devastated when she passed and always looked lost as if he didn't quite know what to do. I taught him how to paint and it gave us both something to focus on as we grieved her loss together.

Now he just loves to paint. He runs to the basement when I say "do you want to paint?" His art has raised thousands of dollars to help dogs and cats with cancer.

We started last year using different types of brushes to get different effects. We use makeup brushes and small scrubbing brushes and even tried a toilet bowl brush (new of course).

His art has been featured in an art gallery here in Canada and was selected as a finalist in an international art competition. When not painting he likes to play frisbee, do nosework and learn other tricks like playing the piano and putting a basketball in a hoop.

Schutlz has a pretty large following on Instagram at @thelifeofschultz. He and his new young sister Wilhelmina (Kaiserin's great niece) both sell their art on an Etsy shop Art4TripawdKaiserin to raise money for amputee pets.

WILHELMINA

Wilhelmina is a three year old long coat German Shepherd who is the great niece of my very fist painting dog Kaiserin. Kaiserin was a trick dog champion who had lost a leg to cancer and sold her art to raise money for the Tripawds Foudation to help other amputee dogs like her. After she passed, Wilhelmina joined our family. She started to hold a brush at 3 months old and completed her first piece of art at only 4 months old. Clearly art was in her blood.

Today she and her older brother Schultz sell their art on an Etsy shop Art4TripawdKaiserin to raise money for pets battling cancer in memory of Kaiserin.

Wilhelmina learns new tricks very quickly and stacks rings, puts a basketball in a hoop and even plays jenga. She is also the troublemaker of the family and her favourite past time is stealing shoes from by the door and then hiding them behind the large hedge in the backyard.
